

BARRE DAILY TIMES

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.
Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Entered at the Postoffice as Second Class Matter.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1907.

Denver is a health resort. Denver has been chosen by the Democrats for their national convention.

Rear Admiral Evans may be depended upon to shoot off a bombardment of words whenever he isn't firing a volley of real projectiles.

Ever smelling a rat, the Springfield Republican now builds up "The great Cortelyou mystery," about the presidency. The only mystery about the case seems to be: How can Cortelyou get the presidency at this time?

Those people in the southern part of the state who object to the title of "Mooseback," as used by a public speaker a short time ago, can avoid a repetition of the indignity by taking themselves out of the class of "Moosebacks" and becoming progressive.

The disbanding of the Barre Entertainment association, which has performed a commendable work in this city for many years, is a matter of regret; but the action of last evening does not, of course, preclude the possibility of forming another association at such time as the people of the city may awake to the need of this sort of thing, as they will awake sooner or later.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

While there is generally more or less unnecessary noise and clacking over a movement that is considered to be along the line of reform—so much of a tumult, in fact, that the matter takes on a ridiculous interpretation—there is nevertheless frequently much good deep down. Every time, for instance, that some officer of the law begins an attempt to ordain a stricter enforcement of the Sunday laws, there is a tremendous hue and cry. Some extremists for a closed Sunday would have the place shut up so tight that a shadow of His Majesty Majesty would have difficulty in filtering through; while on the other hand, some people would travel to the opposite extreme and permit a wide-open Sunday.

There is no doubt that several Vermont communities have been guilty of allowing too lax an oversight in this matter of mercantile business on the first day of the week. Montpelier is really no different in this respect, except that the officers of the law there have now begun to strengthen the waning grip and return more closely to reasonable principles. The law draws the line between necessary and unnecessary transactions, permitting the former and barring the latter. There then devolves the task of distinguishing between the two, which is necessary and which is unnecessary. In arriving at the decision, let's be candid. We need drug stores, we need eating-houses, we need telegraphic and telephone communication. That much we may as well admit, and should then act accordingly. We don't need to buy our provisions on a Sunday, our dry goods, our jewelry, our wearing apparel, and countless other things that cannot here be enumerated. Then let's close all these places, at the same time making reasonable restrictions as to hours on the others that we do need. Eliminate the unreasonable features of this hue and cry at once, and banish the idea of completely closing everything. That extreme is as foolish as going as far the other way which is, permitting trade on a Sunday as if it were Monday, the way of some parts of the old world, Germany, for illustration.

The Big Premium Store

IS BRIM FULL OF CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

Are you one of our customers? If not you are not using the best economy for the following reasons: First, we are in a position to give you better Teas, Coffees, etc., than any other store in the city. We buy our goods direct, discount our bill and save all jobbers' and traveling salesmen's profits. By selling them through our branch stores, our goods are sold for cash, therefore we have no poor accounts. Thus, by our complete system, what other merchants pay to the middlemen and lose in poor accounts, we give you in our premiums. Our system in handling Coffees is complete. We have the most improved processes for roasting and blending and our Coffees are roasted fresh every week. We never sell the cheap, trashy goods that other stores advertise. We sell only the best grades and guarantee our goods to equal goods sold in other stores at the same price and the stamps entirely extra. Money back if you want it. We are here to please and we are to stay. We have contracted with our landlord for a term of years. We are therefore duty bound to you to give you the best goods for the least money and a share of our profits in the beautiful line of premiums we are constantly using. If you have never visited our Display Parlor, come in. We take great pleasure in showing our line. Extra stamps given with all store orders on Saturdays and Mondays. A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX

Considering the low cost and the perfect security of a box in a modern safe deposit vault, it is unwise to keep securities, insurance policies, savings bank books, deeds and other valuables in a house or office safe. The safe deposit vault does what no amount of insurance can do—it actually prevents valuables from being burned or stolen.
